CONTRACT FOR FIRST CHURCH

Military Spirit Siezes People of Redwood City---Organization of the Jefferson Cavalry.

[Some of the interesting events of 1863 and 1864.]

While preparations for the erection of the Congregational Church, commenced early in the year, were still under way, the members of the congregation became dissatisfied with the lot which Mr. Fox had offered to donate as a building site and which at first had been accepted, and cast about for a more eligible location. After considerable consideration, the lot on Jefferson street was deemed to be more centrally located and generally better suited for church purposes, and in the latter part of September was purchased from J. V. Diller. After the purchase of this lot the contract for the building of the church was let.

On the night of October 9th, "King Alcohol" claimed as another of his victims John Taylor, a teamster. On the following morning Taylor was found dead in the road near this city, the body lying with the head in front of one of the wheels of the wagon. From the position of the body it was evident that Taylor had been jolted from the wagon and had fallen so that the wheel caught him at the neck. The wagon was drawn by oxen, and from the position of the wagon when found it was clear that the oxen must have stopped when they felt the extra strain as the wheel struck their driver and remained in that position all night without attempting to go forward, and that Taylor had strangled to death. As Taylor's habit of drinking to excess was generally known and it seemed apparent that this was the cause of the accident and death, no inquest was deemed necessary.

On the morning of November 6th, the old San Mateo House, one of the most widely known of the pioneer pleasure resorts of the County, was completely destroyed by fire. The fire started in the parlor of the hotel while the guests were at breakfast, presumably from the over heating of the wooden partition at the back of the stove. From the account the fire had but just started when it was discouvered, and had the proper action been taken at the time of its discovery it might have been extinguished by the application of a few buckets of water. As is too often the case, however, the people became excited and instead of attempting to put out the fire and save the house as well as its contents, no attempt was made to extinguish the flames. Instead of this, the entire energies of the people at the place was devoted to carrying out the furniture. In this they were successful, as practically everything movable in the house was saved, but the building was entirely distroyed. There was no instrance on either the house or furniture. At this time the house was under lease to a man named Page, who while he did not own the building, had a short time before the fire expended about $2000 in repairing and remodeling the hotel.

The movement started in the early portion of the year looking to the awakening of the military spirit among the people of this vicinity by the formation of a military company, and which at that time was allowed to temporarily slumber, partially for the want of a leader, was revived in the latter portion of the year, this time with no intention of allowing of failure. Partially with the intention of avoiding the mistake made at the outset, and with the design of giving the movement authoritive backing, on the 27th of November, County Judge Templeton made an order appointing Justice of the Peace H. A. Schofield to superintend the organization of a volunteer military company in this city. Acting under this authority, Justice Schofield immediately issued a call for a meeting to be held at the Courthouse on the afternoon of December 12th. The meeting, however, was not held until the evening of that date, but in the meantime the organizer had been busy and a number of men had signed the muster roll. Many of these were at the Courthouse at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the time originally stated in the call, and found it impossible to remain until the meeting, which was attended by a number of interested people. When the roll was called it was found that something over 20 of those who had signed the muster roll were present, and the work of organization was proceeded with. Several names were suggested for the new organization, the one finally chosen being the "Jefferson Rifles." That there was considerable rivalry among the embyro soldiers for the honors of commissioned officers is shown by the number of nominations made for the several positions. The aspirants for the command of the company were F. E. Bartlett, E. C. Southworth, A. S. Eaton and L. Maxwell. For First Lieutenant the nominees were A. Teague, William Longuedoc and G. W. Fox. For Senior Second Lieutenant J. O. Shaw, James Byrnes and A. K. Gage were placed in nomination. The candidates for Junior Second Lieutenant were G. W. Chandler, John Murray, J. W. Dockman, W. H. Lyons, Peter Towne and W. J. Spicer. In order to give all who had signed the roll an opportunity to have a voice in the naming of their officers, the election was postponed for one week with the understanding that public notice would be given that then the permanent organization would be completed. When the time for this meeting arrived, however, it was found that sickness prevented the attendance of Judge Schofield, the organizing officer, and another postponment was made until the following week. When the meeting was finally held the first business was the adoption of a resolution, offered by T. W. Lathrop, requiring all members of the company to take the oath of allegience to the Federal Government. Following this it was decided to change the name of the organization to the "Jefferson Cavalry," and equip the company as a cavalry company instead of an infantry organization. After these preliminaries had been disposed of the chief business of the meeting, the election of the officers of the company, was taken up, resulting in the selection of F. E. Bartlett as Captain, T. W. Lathrop as First Lieutenant, J. O. Shaw as Senior Second Lieutenant and John Murray as Junior Second Lieutenant. While there had been considerable rivalry among the aspirants for these positions, it was entirely of the good natured sort, and those who failed of selection took their defeat in the spirit which indicated the making of good soldiers, and all went to work heartily for the success of the undertaking. At this meeting it was shown that there were already 55 names on the muster roll, with every indication that the full limit of 80 would soon be reached. The newly elected Captain was not without some military experience, having seen service with a company of cavalry during the Mexican war. After naming A. Teague, S. H. Snyder and G. W. Fox as a committee to prepare a constitution and by-laws, the meeting adjourned for another week. At this meeting, held January 7th, 1864, it was announced that the commissions for the officers had been received and the organization was completed by the selection of the following non-commissioned officers: First sergeant, G. W. Fox; second sergeant, A. Sanders; third sergeant, William Callaghan; fourth sergeant, A. W. Hunt; fifth sergeant, Charles H. Tilton; corporals, Jerome McCarthy, Martin Kuck, David Jenkins and John Donald, Jr; bugler, E. R. Woodhear; farrier, Jas. Hilton. After this meeting the muster rolls were forwarded to the State Headquarters, with requisitions for the arms and equipments, which were furnished by the State. Outside of furnishing the equipments, the State made no appropriations for the support of the company, and its expenses were paid by the county. At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors on February 1st, Captain Bartlett presented a claim of $50 for the incidental expenses of the company for January which was allowed. At the same meeting Captain Bartlett was given authority to secure a suitable place for the drilling of the company and to employ an armorer, with the proviso that the monthly expense to the county should not exceed $50. Pending the selection of a more suitable place, the drills of the company were held in the hall at the Courthouse.

Teachers Not Restricted.

City Attorney Long of San Francisco has rendered an opinion at the request of the grand jury in which he holds that teachers are not required, under section 2, article 16 of the charter to live in the county.

He says: "This section, I believe, is broad enough to cover all employes in any of the offices of the city and county, the only exception being employes authorized and employed under provisions of the state statute and made subject to the provisions of the state statute only. Under this head would come all teachers employed by the board of education as teachers of this school district, which is an entirely separate body politic from the city and county, and which is made subject to the provisions of the general laws rather than those of the charter. This view was sustained by the decision of Judge Graham in the recent case of Stewart versus Board of Education."

This decision will affect a number of teachers in the San Francisco schools who have their homes along the Peninsula.

People who reside in Redwood City should patronize Redwood City merchants. Don't make your money here and then go elsewhere to spend it. This course neither builds nor boosts a town. Be loyal to yoer home city and it will be as loyal with you. Fidelity to home interests is the first one of the chief requisites to the advancement of any community. By dealing with our home people we promote the prosperity of the city and keep our money at home, where there is at least a possible prospect of at least a portion returning to us.

Jealous Horticulturists.

The attack on Luther Burbank by the Pasadena growers composing the Horticultural Society of that place, is undoubtedly the result of envy and jealousy. Evidently the members of the Southern organization are actuated by motives of sectional jealousy of the success of the "Wizard of Santa Rosa." He has performed marvelous wonders in horticulture and those little pigmys down south cannot detract from the glory or fame he has gained in this and other countries. The name of Burbank will live long in the history of this State and he will be honored by thousands long after he has passed beyond the shadows.

Will Locate at Newark.

From what appears to be a thoroughly reliable source, comes the statement that within a short time the Southern Pacific Railway Company is to establish immense railway shops on this coast, patterned after the larger shops of the Eastern States. The Iron Trades Review, which is generally regarded as thoroughly reliable and authoritive, in a recent issue states that indications are that these shops are to be located at Newark. As an indication of this it is cited that the Railway Company has recently purchased a tract of 525 acres of land adjoining the 400 acre tract already owned by them. This is assumed by the Review, will provide an ample space upon which to erect shops of a large capacity and allow of space for the erection of homes for the workmen employed. This announcement would seem to indicate the intention of the Railway company to concentrate their main shops at this location and promises a bright future for the town of Newark, which will then become the seat of one of the most extensive industries in the State. The same paper is authority for the statement that within a short time steel motor and passenger cars are to be used entirely upon the electrified subdivisions of the Southern Pacific. It has been decided at a conference of the heads of the executive and operating departments of the company and its tributary lines to place an order within a short time for equipment of this class to cost something over $1,000,000 as an initial setp in th's direction. Instead of using electric locomotives, the new cars will be of the combination motor and passenger type, each capable of accommodating 90 passengers

Will Dedicate Orphanage.

The Crocker Memorial Building the new home of the Armitage Orphanage, of San Mateo will be formally opened next Thursday afternoon. The dedicatory services will take place at 3 o'clock that afternoon by Rt. Rev. William Ford Nichols, D. D. A cordial invitation is extended to thea public to be present and inspect the building. A bus will meet all trains.

"IN A BAD WAY"

Many a Redwood City Reader Will Feel Greatful for This Information.

When your back gives out;
Becomes lame, weak or aching;
When ordinary troubles set in,
Your kidneys are "in a bad way."
Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.
Here is local evidence to prove it:

Matthew Hedge, 701 Arguello st., Redwood City, Cal., says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, I know them to be a remedy that lives up to representations. I had pains in my left hip, descending at times into my thigh and the calf of my left leg. A soreness was also present across my kidneys, causing me great discomfort. I knew that my suffering was due to sciatic rheumatism caused by my kidneys failing to remove the uric poison from my system. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills as a fine remedy for kidney trouble and I accordingly procured a box at P. A. Ryan's drug store. I used this remedy according to directions and in view of the benefit I recieved, I have great faith in it."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

LOCAL CLUB WOMEN HOLD RECEPTION

Entertain President of the State Federation and Other Notable Visitors.

CONGRATULATED ON SUCCESS

Odd Fellowd Hall Scene of Pleasant Gathering of Women Devoted to Welfare of City.

The Redwood City Womans Club opened its seasons work Thursday afternoon under most flattering circumstances. Never before in the history of this city has there been so notable a gathering of women, imbued with the spirit of progress and with a desire for the betterment of the conditions of their city and its environments, and promotion of its material, civic and moral welfare.

The reception rooms and the main hall of the Odd Fellows Building had been transformed into a perfect bower of beauty for the occasion, under the direction of Mrs. Curran Clark, the hostess of the day. Palms, greenery and cut flowers had been used in profusion and arranged with excellent taste about the rooms, which were screened from the glare of the light of day and softly illumed with the glow of electric lights. The effect of being materially aided by the varying costumes of the participants, the rooms being filled with the members of the Culb and their invited guests, prominent among the latter being Mrs. Jas. B. Hume, of San Francisco, president of the State Federation of Womans Clubs, and Mrs A. E. Osborne, of Santa Clara, president of the Santa Clara Womans Club and chairman of the civil service reform committee of the State Federation. The time occupied in the gathering of the members and their guests was enlivened with excellent music furnished by an orchestra placed in one of the reception rooms.

In opening the meeting Mrs. C. E. Cumberson, president of the Club extended a welcome to the bright and enthusiastic body of women, with whose help she prophesied that the Redwood City Club would soon achieve a rank among the highest in the State. Never in the annals of all Clubdom in the State could such progress and evidences of ultimate success. Believing she said, that the best of all influences eminated from the home, the Club had early set about the securing of a permanent home for itself. In this effort they had met with the most generous assistance. Thorugh the tact and thoughtfulness of H. C. Tuchsen and the liberality of Baldwin & Howell the Club had been provided with a desirable building site for a club house in the beautiful Dingee Park. Nor did the liberality of spirit stop hefe, for the Club were to be at no expense in the preparation of its plans as Ross & Ross had set the example unusual among members of the legal profession of foregoing the legal fees incident to the work of incorporation, while Le Baron R. Olive, though a comparative new comer within the city, had generously offered to prepare plans for the building. Mrs. Cumberson, however, reminded her hearers that the building of a club house, while a worthy ambition, was far from one of the chief objects to be achieved by the organization. Its aim was to promote the better social and neighborly instincts among women, that the moral and civic interests of the city might be best promoted, to lay the foundation of a higher and broader enlightenment. The sphere of woman has gradually widened until today she must not only rule the home, but so equip herself mentally as to rear the family so that it may be a credit to the nation.

After a short interlude of music, Mrs. Cumberson introduced to the assemblage Mrs. James B. Hume as the honored guest of the day. Clad in a neat costume of plain black, Mrs. Hume presented a strong personality, and with a striking command of language and delivery claimed the closest attention from her audience. In opening her remarks, she hailed the club as the baby member of the Federation, and congratulated the members on the remarkable progress already made, and the same time facilitating the city upon the interest of the members and the promise of the great work to be done for its improvement and welfare. The world today recognizes the importance of the work of the Womens Club, and its even widening influence for the highest good of all. While the true woman must still devote herself to the calls of the home, she must so enlarge her intelligence and interest in the world that from the environs of this sacred retreat shall go forth men and women equipped for the service of the best and noblest works of civilization. Nor should this be confined to the mere study of literature and the mental enlargement. While the literary club has its place and its importance is not to be minimized, there is a more important and higher work than this. Women are now the conservators of the better elements of nature, and to her falls the duty of awakening and developing the civic conscience. Not alone has she a responsibility to the home, but a duty equally as high to the Nation, which today recognizes the widespread influence and work of the Womans Club, which has become one of the greatest and best organized influences of the country.

Speaking of the work in this section, Mrs Hume stated that although California had been under the jurisdiction of the National Federation but 10 years, it today ranked as better than fifth in membership and efficiency of its work. Within this state the membership now exceeds 17,000, and among the workers much was expected from the membership of this Club, which has began its career under such auspicious auspices. She urged that each member take upon herself some special department of the diversified work imposed by the varying needs of the community. The Club should be made the home of the rich and the poor alike—that the rich may gain a knowledge of the responsibility of wealth and the less fortunate may gain an aspiration for the better things of life. At the close of her remarks Mrs. Hume received an ovation.

After a short intermission, during which the party was treated to a rare musical selection by the orchestra, the president introduced Mrs. A. E. Osborne, president of the Santa Clara Womans Club, who spoke entertainingly for some little time. To a large extent the remanks of Mrs. Osborne were along advisory lines, especially suggesting methods necessary in the conduct of business affairs, and dealing with the needs and methods off incorporation. Following this she urged the members to take up their work in a systematic manner, suggesting that the members divide themselves into groups or sections, each devoted to some special department of public need, especially urging that work be done along the line of extending welcome to new arrivals in the city, with a view to strengthening their social ties and awakening an interest in the work of the Club

Following the addresses a time was spent in social converse and conferences over the work proposed, during which dainty refreshments were served. An interesting and pleasing interlude in this was a song rendered by C.G. Landscheit, who was in excellent voice. Ater a most pleasant afternoon, at 5 o'clock the ladies dispersed to their several home duties. From now on the meetings of the Club will be held regularly and the work outlined for the season will be taken up in earnest.

Paddock Wants $50,000 Damages

Claiming that his business has been damaged by malicious action on the part of Emma Offerman, suit for $50-000 was filed Tuesday in the Superior Court of Santa Clara County by Nelson Paddock against the former, whom he accuses of causing his arrest on August 10 last without probable cause.

According to the story as told by Paddock, the defendant obtained a warrant for his arrest on a charge of carrying and drawing a concealed weapon in a threatening manner, in the presence of several people. Plaintiff was thrown into the county jail for five days, afterwards being released without bail. Since his brief incarceration many of his former acquaintances, believing him to be a criminal, have ceased to do business with him, and he claims to be injured by the malicious and groundless act of defendant in the sum of $$50,000. Attorney Louis Oneal is representing the plaintiff.

Last Friday evening the girls of the ladies Guild of Trinity Episcopal church were entertained at the hospitable home of Mrs. James Logan. The evening was delightfully passed in songs and story telling. Refreshments were daintily served by the genial hostess assisted by her daughter-in-law.

Father Bailey, former assistant pastor here, left hurriedly for his old home in Ireland last Monday. He was summoned home in order to be at the bedside of his father, whose life is ebbing fast away. He may not be able to reach his destination before his parent passes away. Many years ago Mr. Bailey resided at Halfmoon Bay where he farmed.

Edward Headley returned from Salt Lake City last Friday. He was accompanied by his wife and child. They went to that place to attend the funeral obsequies of Mrs. Headley's mother.

Howard Crane and Joe Kelly have resumed their studies at Santa Clara College.

Some miscreants entered the hennery of Mrs. McNally Monday evening and beheaded 35 chickens and three geese, all the fowl that Mrs. McNallyhad. The party is under suspicion and an arrest may be made very soon. This sort of thing has gone on long enough in town and an example has to be made no matter how prominent the parties suspected may be. This may be looked upon as a joke by some people but Mrs. McNally does not consider it as such nor neither do the other victims of these vicious culprits think so.

Miss Elizabeth O'Hair, the well known trained nurse, who has attended so many patients here, was operated upon in the Lane Hospital last Friday. Her numerous friends will be pleased to learn that she is getting along nicely and will recover.

Attorney Joseph I. McMullen has been engaged to fill an important position in the legal department of one of the big railroads in San Francisco, but is not ready yet to announce with which he is to be associated Mr. McMullen recently opened an office in Palo Alto and was doing a prosperous business. Lieutenant McMullen is a retired army officer who has been admitted to the practice of law. He is a West Point Graduate.

The 10 acres are being subdivided into lots, preparatory to placing them on the market. It is said that an excursion will be run down here from San Francisco.

Society Sees War Cloud.

The bugle of Menlo Park's society set has sounded. The advance guard has been stationed. A stalwart robust handsome man leads one squad, while here and there the fray is battled by a coy, beautiful lined member of the other sex.

Menlo's set has declared war with the Burlingame set. The exact phases of the fight are yet unknown, and what are, appear rather intangible and intricate to the outsider, but the material issue is a well known subject of debate in the inner circle of Mnlo's society whirl.

For the last few years Menlo's set has had to accept the hospitality of the Burlingame club, and inferences of some of the members were anything but cordial. As a result the pride dignity of Menlo has revolted. They will not be the inevitable guests of the Burlingame set. The bugle has sounded, war has been declared. The cabinet has been in session, the outcome being that Ed Eyre, Percy W. Selby, J. S. Oyster, Perry Eyer and J. A. Folger are the charter members of Menlo's new club. Fifty acres of land is to be purchased near the Selby home, and a club house, replete with golf links, race tracks, polo fields, and nooks and crooks, vales and dales for cupid's game have been arranged for by the committee in charge.

Indications point that the club will outclass the Burlingame club and that more money and effort will be spent to make the club's villa one that will not be equalled in America.

Festive Bachelors Have Scheme of Their Own and Constable "Butts In."

TUCHSIN PLAYS THE GALLANT

Masquerading Member Causes Nerve Racking Shock Among Denizens of Bachelor Resort.

"The Family", a community of choice San Francisco Bohemian spirits, whose "farm" is near Portola had an elaborate function Saturday and Sunday, called the "Flight of the Stork", at which 200 members were present. An idea of how the genial club members spent their outing is gained from the fact that one of their members was arrested for impersonating a woman. Ladies were not allowed within shooting distance of the club, and Charley Dickman a well-known artist of Monterey, thought it would be lots of fun to impersonate one of the gentler sex He dressed his 200 pounds or more of averdupois in the finest rainment and made his way undiscovered to this city where he was met by Bush Finnell, a prominent attorney, with a big machine, that chugged and puffed in a nervous condition to get back to the farm at Portola.

Phil Beckeart, one of the club wits, concluded that it would be a good joke to have Dickman arrested for impersonating a woman and accordingly notified Constable Cronk of the trouble and the officer fell in with the idea. The heavy hand of the law was laid upon Dickman in front of the post office just at mail time when there was a large audience present and the crowd attracted by the excitement gathered around the machine Dickman's friends made a pretence of protecting him and the constable threatened to jail the whole bunch.

H. C. Tuchsen, the real estate nabob witnessed the scrape from across the street and being acquainted with several of the party, and fearing that the officer might be acting too hastily, he butted in and counseled moderation, and finally offered to furnish the necessary bonds for the release of the lady. The whole party got into the machine and followed by the curious throng proceeded toward Judge Hannon's office, but Beckeart suddenly thought the joke had gone far enough. He "squared" matters, and Dickman was released and allowed to go on his way, but still in the woman's clothes.

At 6:30 o'clock Finnell and Beckeart arrived at the farm with a woman. Horrors, exclaimed their fellow members. There was a council of war, and many members of the club gathered in executive session, swearing they would perfer charges against the two for bringing a woman to the club farm. It took a long time for the members finally to find out the truth and pay the obvious forfeits.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We are pleased to announce that the "IMPERIAL PAPER MILL COMPANY," of Soquel, Santa Cruz County, Cal., has been incorporated under the laws of the State of California for the purpose of tkaing over and operating the South Coast Paper Mill of Soquel. The South Coast Paper Mill is now being operated under a Joint Partnership by J. C. W. Stanley and Greely Kolts, but in order to enable an extension of the present business it has been deemed advisable to convert the former partnership into a regular Incorporated Company so as to permit the installation of new machinery which will increase the capacity of the mill from 30 to 90 tons of Paper per week. At present it is impossible to accept more than 20 per cent of the orders tendered us for paper owing to the fact that the plant is limited to 30 tons per week.

We are therefore anxious to install sufficient new equipment at once so as to increase the weekly tonage to 90 tons, as well as enable us to turn out a higher grade product than is now possible with the present mill. Hereafter the Company will manufacture a general line of Building Paper, Box-Board, Fruit Wrappers, Felting Paper, Wrapping and Special Papers.

The new company which has been organized to take over the business of the former company is capitalized at $125,000, divided into 2,000 shares of 10 per cent Cumulative Preferred Stock at $50 per share, and 500 shares of Common Stock at $50 per share. In order to provide for the necessary improvements and enlargements of the mill we now offer for Subscription the first issue of 1,000 shares of the 10 per cent Preferred Stock at $55 per share. Payments 25 per cent on application, balance 25 per cent per month until fully paid.

We are reasonably confident that the mill when improved and enlarged will pay conservatively from 20 to 30 per cent annual dividends, and we regard this as an exceptional opportunity to secure a high-class, dividend-paying stock in a going concern. The first issue of 1,000 Preference shares is offered at $55 per share, and the second issue, comprising all the remainder of the Preference shares of the Company at $60 per share.

In ordering stock kindly state whether in the event the first issue of 1,000 shares is over Subscribed on receipt of your application by the Company, you wish your Subscription returned or allowed on the second issue at $60 per share.

The following are the directors of the Company:

Greely Kolts, Director and Fiscal Agent British Canadian Wood Pulp and Paper Company, Ltd., Victoria, B. C.

F. A. Angel, General Merchant, Soquel, Cal.

Forbes Wood, formerly Manager Toronto Paper Company, Toronto, Canada; formerly General Superintendent California Box-Board and Paper Company, Antioch, Cal.
